The Book. The 33 strategies are divided into four sections: 1) Self Directed Warfare, 2) Organizational (Team) Warfare, 3) Defensive Warfare, and 4) Offensive Warfare. The first section is perhaps my favorite because it focuses on the only person and thing one can control—oneself, one's actions, and one's perspective.

learn the rules - and then change them completely. Charles Darwin began as an underachieving schoolboy, Leonardo da Vinci as an illegitimate outcast. The secret of their eventual greatness lies in a 'rigorous apprenticeship': they learnt to master the 'hidden codes' which determine ultimate success or failure. Then, they rewrote the rules as a reflection of their own individuality. Told through Robert Greene's signature blend of historical anecdote and psychological insight and drawing on interviews with world leaders, Concise Mastery builds on the strategies outlined in The 48 Laws of Power to provide a practical guide to greatness - and learn how to start living by your own rules.

The companion book to the bestselling Concise 48 Laws of Power, which has now sold over 125,000 copies in the UK. Amoral, ruthless, clever and cunning, this is the essential guide to the art of seduction.

This isn't indented to supplant the first book, yet to fill in as an ally to it and give you, our faithful perusers, with an improved understanding encounter. and conditions, for example, Napoleon Bonaparte, Lawrence of Arabia, Alexander the Incomparable, and the Tet Hostile. Portrayals of fights, political and business circumstances are joined by Greene's understanding. There are incidental instructional areas followed by models. All sections end with a "Inversion" to give a concise conversation of where the system may not make a difference, an opposite view or safeguard About the author Robert Greene has a degree in traditional examinations and is the writer of a few top of the line books, including The 48 Laws of Power, The Craft of Enticement, and Mastery. PART I: SELF-Coordinated Fighting 1. Proclaim Battle ON YOUR Foes: THE Extremity Technique Life is a perpetual fight and struggle, and you can't battle successfully except if you can recognize your foes. Figure out how to clear out your adversaries, to spot them by the signs and examples that uncover antagonism. At that point, when you have them in your sights, deep down announce war. Your adversaries can fill you with reason and course. Model: In 401 BC Xenophon drove Greek soldiers of fortune into Persian region. At the point when their chief passed on and they don't had anything more to battle for, encompassed by the foe, they needed to turn into a concentrated power battling their way back home. The warriors' soul was squashed. They had feeble spirit and begun battling one another. Xenophon joined them, consequently crushing the inward foe. Clarification: Zeroing in on endurance, the possibility of returning home alive to loved ones caused them to drive forward. You can't swing a blade without realizing what to hit with it. It's you against the world and it's you against yourself.
