The Longest Road: Finding Peace with the Past is a powerful, compelling and true story. Starting with the trauma of growing up poor in a dysfunctional family caught in extreme denial, Lyttle captivates her readers with tales of profound fear, pain and tragic betrayal. It is the story of a young, single mother's courageous and often desperate struggle to survive and raise a son in a life filled with hardship. It is the story of how she suffers unspeakable trauma when her son is finally reunited with the real birth father and how it all goes terribly wrong. Finally, it is a story of a mother's love for her son and her journey down the longest road to find peace and reconcile with the past. The book covers many compelling, complex issues that many of us, in some form, deal with-alienation, birthright, reunification, family of origin issues and abandonment. Shocking, real, moving and completely captivating--it is a story you will not want to put down.

Through the centre of China ' s historic capital, Long Peace Street cuts a long, arrow-straight line. It divides the Forbidden City, home to generations of Chinese emperors, from Tiananmen Square, the vast granite square constructed to glorify a New China under Communist rule. To walk the street is to travel through the story of China ' s recent past, wandering among its physical relics and hearing echoes of its dramas. Long Peace Street recounts a journey in modern China, a walk of twenty miles across Beijing offering a very personal encounter with the life of the capital ' s streets. At the same time, it takes the reader on a journey through the city ' s recent history, telling the story of how the present and future of the world ' s rising superpower has been shaped by its tumultuous past, from the demise of the last imperial dynasty in 1912 through to the present day.

The best-selling first edition of The Long Road to Peace in Northern Ireland (0853236771) included essays from Senator George J. Mitchell, Sir David Goodall, Sir George Quigley, Lord Owen and Niall O'Dowd among others, and demonstrated the evolution of peace in Ireland, culminating in the Good Friday Agreement. Now Marianne Elliott, one of the world's leading historians of Ireland, has updated the book and commissioned new essays to ensure that this vital resource for students, scholars, politicians and the interested general reader continues to illuminate the peace process through the words of some of its pivotal figures. The essays all relate to the nature of peacemaking as a process rather than an event signalled by the signing of an agreement. The significant role of 'third party' diplomacy is touched on by many contributors, as is the need for pragmatism, compromise, and a recognition that it is those people at the polar extremes of any dispute that have to be drawn in if a lasting agreement is to be achieved.

In this book, scientists who are pre-eminent in their fields focus on the crucial role of science in the transition away from a culture of war towards the construction of peace based on a capacity to anticipate and prevent destructive conflicts. The subject matter, wide-ranging and of great concern to people everywhere, includes the progress and prospects for a nuclear-weapon-free world; non-nuclear threats to peace and security; the building of legitimate world institutions; conflict resolution and the construction of peace; the local and global environmental dimensions of peace; the health hazards of nuclear chemical and biological weapons; and the interactions between health problems and poverty. Contents: Chiapas: Politics or War (R Benitez-Manaut) Nuclear Disarmament: Is This as Good as It Gets? (M M Bosch) The Future of Nuclear Weaponry and our Civilization (F Calogero) Nuclear-Weapon-Free Zones and Non-Proliferation (O M Sukovic) Technology and the Prevention of Genocide (D Andersen & A Moden) Asian Financial Crisis and China (Z-Q Xie) Ethnic Identity and Border Disputes in the Balkans (N Behar) Water Security in Southern Africa (N Dippenaar) Poverty, Disease and War (J Avery) Poverty, Public Health and Peace: A Southern African Perspective (R A Mogotlane) and other papers. The now-this moment-is the true source of happiness and peace and the key to living a fulfilled and meaningful life. Embracing the Now is a collection of essays whose common thread is the now. Full of clear insight and wisdom, it explains how the mind keeps you from being in the now, how to move into the now and stay there, and what living from there is like. It also explains how to overcome stumbling blocks to being in the now, such as fears, doubts, judgments, misunderstandings, distrust of life, desires, and other conditioned ideas that are behind human suffering.

A Mantle of Roses: A Womans Journey Home to Peace is the memoir of a twenty-year period of an ordinary woman, Virginia Swain, who has had extraordinary experiences. Virginias spiritual journey began in 1979 when she didnt have the resources to deal with a brothers sudden death. Over time, Virginia became aware of a Speaking Presence within her. She learned to access this inner voice to heal her past and claim her vocation for peace. Now she teaches what she has learned through the Institute for Global Leadership and the Center for Global Community and World Law. She mentors leaders committed to a sustainable peace and works to abolish war. Virginia poses questions for the reader at the end of each chapter. Journal pages are at the end of the book.

The much anticipated sequel to last fall's smash hit, Finding Faith, Finding Peace joins Tom and Taylor two years after their tumultuous courtship. Taylor's legal practice has taken off and Tom is teaching at the local high school. Not all is rosy, however, as freeing Tom from the perils of his old job turns out to be more than they bargained for and unexpected players test the boundaries of their relationship. Revisit old friends and meet all new players as Finding Peace tells the story of what happens when the courtship ends and the real romance begins.
